Is It Really You We're Talking To?

We always need to know we're really talking to you, especially if you call us. If you've called to make a transfer, find out if a deposit was made, or ask other account-related questions, you know we have a process to verify we're talking to you and not a scammer pretending to be you. This involves our staff asking detailed questions that you, and not a scammer pretending to be you, would have the answer to. We realize this may frustrate members who think it takes too much time, is too intrusive, or makes it seem that we don't trust them. The sad reality is that scammers do call us, pretending to be a member and trying to get us to share their personal information or withdraw money from their account. In short, the identity verification questions we ask help us protect you and keep your money safe.

If you call us with account questions, please be patient with our staff as they ask questions that help us confirm your identity and know that we're talking to you, and not a scammer. Keep in mind that many transfers can be made and transaction questions answered by accessing your account using our mobile app or online banking platform. If you need help enrolling give us a call, but know that we'll ask questions to verify your identity first.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Cloverbelt Credit Union's long time CEO/President, Paul Chittum, announced his retirement at the beginning of this year after 42 years at the credit union. On behalf of the Board of Directors and staff we want to thank Paul for his years of dedication to CCU and congratulate him on his retirement. I personally want to thank him for the leadership and mentorship he has provided. It is with the sincerest appreciation that I wish him the best of everything in retirement. It's time to kick back and enjoy the reward of a job well done!

As the new President of CCU, I'd like to share a little about myself. My career at CCU began in 1993 as a teller when I was in high school as part of the cooperative education (school to work) program at Wausau West. After high school, I went on to earn a Bachelor's of Science degree from the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point with a double major in Managerial Accounting and Business Administration, while continuing to work at the credit union during school breaks and summer. I did leave the credit union for one year after graduating from college and worked at a local CPA firm in the tax department. In 2000, a Director of Accounting position became available and led me back to CCU. This journey over the past 30 years brought me to where I am today. My husband Mark and I are both lifelong Wausau residents and have been married for over 25 years. We have two children, a son, Luke and a daughter, Brianna, and two border collies, Bailee and Chester. In our free time, my family and I make maple syrup, and like to go four wheeling and deer hunting. I currently serve as a volunteer on my church council and am the secretary/treasurer of a cemetery association. I strongly believe in giving back to the community where I live by volunteering and donating, and am proud to be part of a credit union that also believes the same. People helping people is the credit union philosophy.

We are entering a new chapter at Cloverbelt Credit Union, with this change in leadership. One thing that will never change is our dedication to you, our members. We will continue to be there for all your financial needs, whatever they may be. We are committed to building a strong relationship with you based on trust and provide you with a high level of member service. Our continued focus will be on developing and delivering the services and products you need. Thank you for placing your trust in Cloverbelt Credit Union and thank you for being a member!

CCU Members Animals

CCU recently made a $275 donation of items from the wish list of the Marathon County Humane Society. The donation stemmed from CCU's National Love Your Pet Day campaign inviting Lucky Kids club and CCU members to submit photos of themselves posing with their pets. For every photo received CCU donated $5 resulting in a wonderful donation to help care for the animals at the shelter. Thank you to everyone who participated.
